Synopsis

Evolving in two narrative threads, in the countryside and in the city, four female characters are transformed by an encounter and choose to close or open a new chapter in their lives. The Splendour of Life is a sensual invitation to live life to the fullest.

Director and screenwriter

Marianne Métivier is a Filipino writer and director from Montreal. After completing a few short films, she graduated in 2016 in Film production at L'École des médias of University of Quebec in Montreal. Her short film She Who Wears the Rain (2019) was selected at the Berlinale Shorts Competition in 2020. She is currently developing her first documentary Back Home for which she received a development grant at the Talent Lab of the Montreal International Documentary Festival in 2020. She is also working on her first fiction feature The Splendour of Life that was selected at Torino Feature Lab in 2023. Her work mainly explores the sense of belonging to places and our relationship to the intangible.
